

Hydrosols & Oils

Keep your hydrosol and/or oil refrigerated to maintain freshness longer. Hydrosols may be sprayed directly on skin (try a small patch first to ensure one is not allergic). Oils should not be directly applied to skin. Oils are great for diffusing and other household uses. Oil used topically should be used in a base carrier product; no more than 5% of the mixture should be essential oil.

*Do not use if allergic to lavender.

Fresh Wreath Care

Hanging your wreath out of direct sunlight will help it maintain its freshness longer. Rotate wreath every day (turning 1/2 turn on wall/door) to allow for even drying of the stems. See below for continued care after drying.

Dried Wreath Care

Keep your wreath dry and out of direct sunlight. Wreaths will maintain appearance for 9-12 months on an outside door (out of direct sunlight), but will last longer inside. Buds will drop occasionally; just vacuum up.

Hanging your wreath on a door will allow the scent to awaken each time you open/close the door.

Photo by Ali Collier of Brabble Hill Farm

Simple Lavender Syrup:

A little lemon juice, + equal parts water & sugar simmered, then steeped with English (angustifolia) purple, culinary, lavender buds turns the deep purple pigments rosy colored.

Munstead variety is perfect for culinary uses.

* Recipe & syrup photo from Nancy Baggett via United States Lavender Association FB page.

WILDWOOD LAVENDER FARM

Primary Business Address
6454 Cherry Walk Rd
Hebron, MD 21830
Farm located in Quantico, MD
Not Open to the Public—Yet

Phone: 717-683-7253
Bill & Shana King owners/farmers

WILDWOOD LAVENDER FARM

PRODUCT INFO

Tel: 717-683-7253

Visit us at:

[https://www.facebook.com/
Quantico.Maryland/](https://www.facebook.com/Quantico.Maryland/)

Wildwoodlavenderfarm on Instagram

www.wildwoodlavenderfarm.com

PRODUCT INFO

Fresh Lavender Bundle Uses/Care:

Add minimum amount of water & place out of direct sunlight - for about a week. The cooler the room; the longer it will stay fresh. When stems start to wilt, wrap with a rubber band & hang upside down in dry location (i.e. Hang with a bent paperclip from a drying rack or shelf- about 2 wks).

Dried & Fresh Use/Care continued:

Once dried, buds will maintain scent for 2+ years.

Keep bundle dry, buds will maintain scent for up to 2 years.

- Cup hands gently around dried bundle to warm for 30-60 seconds to release oils (sniff bundle closely)
- Pinch off a little bud & squeeze/roll between fingers and sniff
- Hang on a door, put in a vase or place in a special location – Enjoy scent as you walk by. Humidity in bathroom will awaken scent
- Scent repels: Mosquitoes, moths, scorpions & many other bugs
- Scent encourages calm feelings, reduces stress & anxiety

Freshen Your Floors with Dried Buds:

House cleaners in Medieval times sprinkled floors with this aromatic herb to refresh stale or sickly air. It still works great on modern carpets to quash bad odors and to fight bacteria. Make your own floor deodorizer with 8 drops of lavender oil to ½ cup of baking soda. Sprinkle it over your carpet, let it sit for a few minutes, and vacuum.

Sachet:

Keep sachet dry; do not put in washing machine.

Use the sachet to scent your drawers and keep insects away. Tuck it in other places such as the bureau, a chest,

Hang it in a window or place where there is an airflow to create an air freshener.

Throw a sachet in with the dryer. This will help to make clothes smell fresh and also scents the surrounding air. (We recommend our studier linen sachets).

Other uses: Car, glove box, suitcase, laundry bag, locker, gift boxes, mailed packages, purse, stored shoes, memory boxes.

Eye bag:

Scent encourages calm feelings, reduces stress & anxiety

- Microwave eye bag for 15-20 seconds to release scent & warm bag
- Check temperature is safe and then place over eyes
- Place in freezer for 2+ hours to use to cool eye area
- Keep eye bag dry, buds will maintain scent for 2+ years
- Note: Do not put in washing machine. If needed, gently spot clean with a dampened cloth on exterior.

WILDWOOD LAVENDER FARM

Primary Business Address
6454 Cherry Walk Rd
Hebron, MD 21830
Farm located in Quantico, MD
Not Open to the Public—Yet

Phone: 717-683-7253
Bill & Shana King owners/farmers
Email: wildwood.lavender.farm@gmail.com